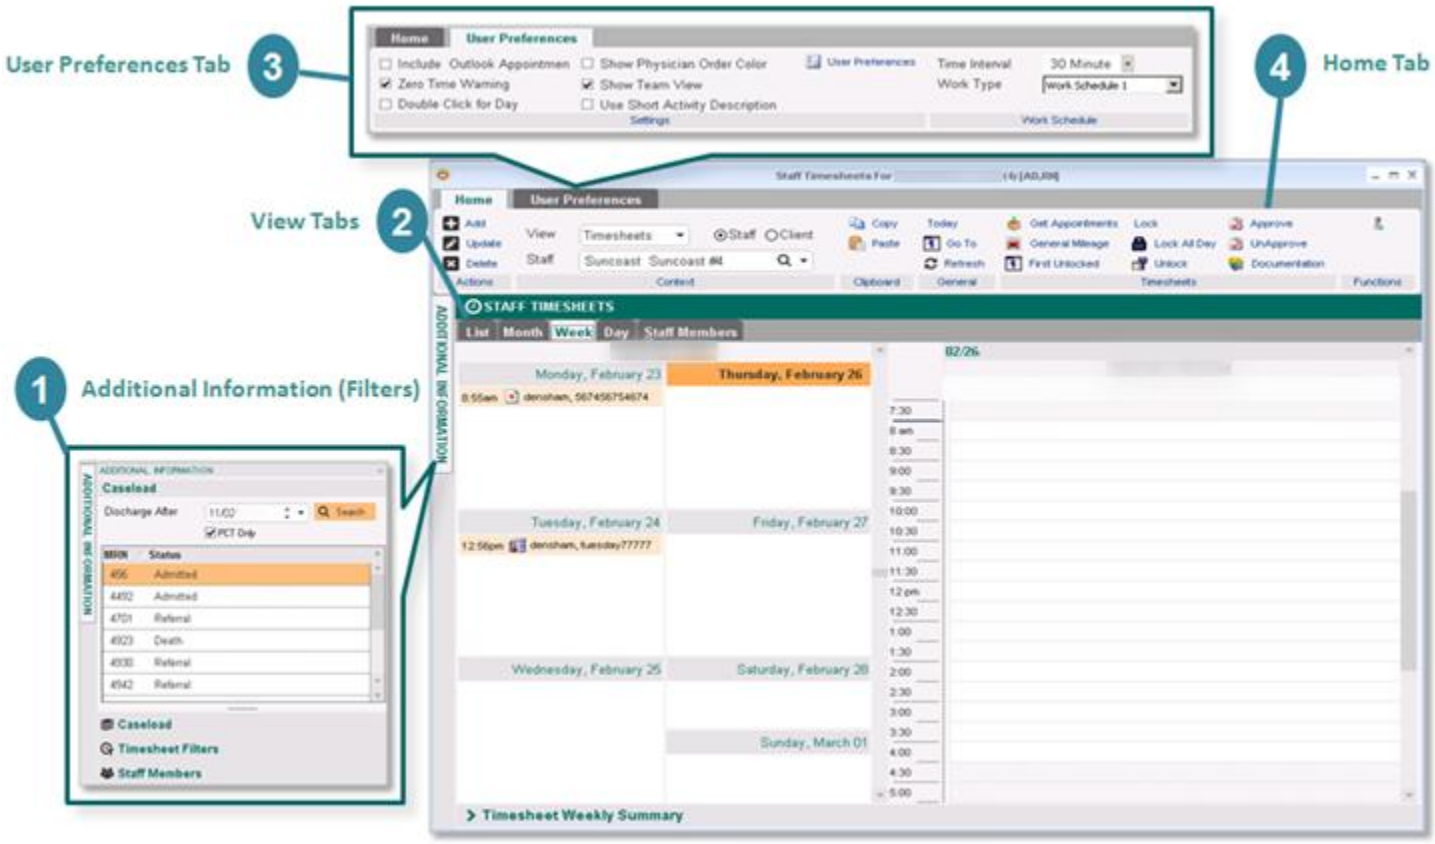
Quick Reference Guide
Working with Timesheets

This quick reference guide provides you with an overview of the functions available in the Timesheet feature and shows you how to quickly add and update Timesheet Entries.

VIEWS AND TABS



Feature		Description
1	Additional Information	Allows you to view visits by Caseload, Staff Member, or using a number of other Filters that include Location, Client (name), Discipline, etc.).
2	View Tabs	Provide various ways (List, Month, Week, Day, Staff Member) to view and use Timesheets. Different tabs may also offer different features (for example, in a calendar view, you can click and drag Timesheet Entries from one day to another or use the right-click menus – see next page).
3	User Preference Tab	Provides options that fall into one of two categories: Settings and Work Timesheet. For the most part, these options affect the way you see your Timesheet or the information you see on it (for example, including Outlook appointments, Zero Time Warnings for visits for visits missing start/end times, team view, etc.).
4	Home Tab	There are several basic functions and feature options under the Timesheet Home tab that allow you to change the way you currently view or use your Timesheet, as well as operations with regard to the information in your Timesheet:

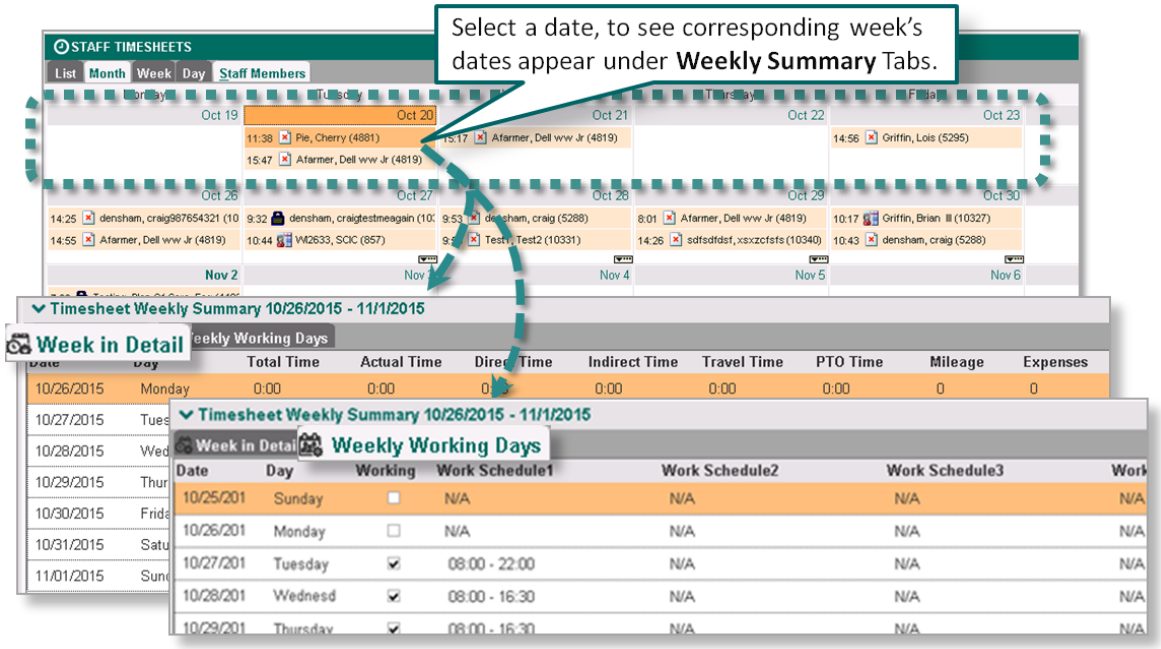
WEEKLY SUMMARY

This is a read-only image of the screen that provides information about visits made for the specified week. That is, when you select a date on the associated calendar, the Weekly Summary area displays information about the week in which the selected date falls: Weekly Detail shows basic time and distance totals for each day of the week rather than any one specific visit, while Weekly Working Days shows availability according to what is set by your agency.



RIGHT-CLICK MENUS

You can access these menus from any calendar view (Month, Week, or Day - refer to description of item 2 View Tabs on previous page). While they generally provide a secondary method for performing many of the operations available in the Timesheet feature, the menu options vary depending upon the view you are using: Staff View (appointments show according to Staff Member assigned) or Client View (appointments show according the Client).

To access this menu, right-click on anywhere in the Timesheet calendar.
